THE STUDENT NEWS MEDIUM AND THE ORGAN OF STUDENT OPINION

A Message From Father Stephen

This is a copy of a tape recording Father Stephen made which was played at the commencement of the Mass of Thanksgiving, Wednesday, November 29, 1967.

Good evening students.

The fact that this particular presentation is made is a clear indication that we have been able to pass the test of accreditation. It is my joy and pleasure to be with you at least on tape to share with you the happiness of this particular occasion. It is one of the most exciting and greatest events in the history of the College. It is a thing for which we have been working hard and long for many years to fulfill. It is for your benefit and ours that we are now accredited.

We have many things to be thankful for at this time and I ask you to share with me this spirit of thanksgiving. We have fought the good fight and we have won the merited crown. As of this time, the College can never be the same; we have achieved a point in time and a point in our history that will step us forward in educational circles and we shall become the Great College that we have always said that we would. We have a fine staff, we have a fine faculty, we have a fine group of people in administration and truthfully we have a fine student body. With all of these things we shall forge ahead.

The vision of the future has always been bright but with accreditation it is now stronger and brighter than ever. I ask you to share with me my happiness and to pledge again your dedication to the ideals of the College and to the goals for which we all stand.

Thank you very, very much.

Father Stephen Herrmann, O.S.B.

Yoshukan Karate Dojo

This Sunday (Dec. 3) the Saint Leo-Yoshukan Karate Dojo will host its first annual "Open Tournament", at 10 p.m. in the College Gymnasium. Tscheuera Sensei, a sixth degree Black Belt from the Canadian Branch of the Yoshukan Dojo, will take the position of Chief Judge in the tournament. The tournament will be based on two different kinds of competition, Kata (Forms) and Kimite (Free Fighting). In the Free Fighting there will be a double elimination rule, which means that a team must be defeated twice before they are put out of the tournament. Each team will be composed of five men and a victory occurs when three of the five men of a team win their individual fights.

Mr. Michael Foster, the instructor for the Saint Leo College team has held extra training periods and made these training sessions particularly demanding during the past few weeks. Because of Mr. Foster's efforts the College team is in exceptionally good condition, and will stand an excellent chance of winning both types of competition.

The Saint Leo Karate Club would like to extend its most sincere thanks to Mr. Norm Kaye, for without his help this tournament would have been impossible.

Dear Abbet

by Frank Burke and Ken Habershon

Dear Abbet,

Greetings! This letter is to inform you that I've got troubles.

After receiving a letter informing me that my grades have been insufficient, I have learned that I am to be ejected from college at the end of this trimester. It seems that my parents received a similar letter, and now they don't want me to come home. Besides that, I won't be able to get into any other college, and my draft board has me classified 4F.

Where can I turn? I have no place to go.

DEAR OLD JOHN and/or MARY

Dear and/or,

Fear not my son and/or daughter for I know of thy plight. However, a wonderful literary career awaits thee. For surely some small college is searching for someone to write a column such as this.

Ab.

Dear Abbet,

I am a pre-Social Economic Behavioral Hygenist major in my junior year at college, and I have come up against several conflicts in my schedule.

It seems that my SOCIAL BEHAVIOR 335 class conflicts with my PRE-HYGIENE 326 class, because they both meet in the same room at the same time. Then my ECONOMICS HYGIENE 421 and my PRE-SOCIAL 126 courses are taught by the same teacher in two different rooms at the same time. Furthermore, my PRE-ECONOMICS 623 and SOCIAL HYGIENE 946 classes are taught by two teachers, in the same class at the same time, and my SOCIAL ECONOMICS 013 course conflicts with my BEHAVIOR 313 class, because they both meet one day at all times. My last and final class, PRE-SOCIAL ECONOMIC BEHAVIORAL HYGIENE, is not taught on any day at any time in the same room by two teachers.

What can I do?

AIN'T GOT NO CLASS

Dear Ain't,

Thou art truly in a quandary. However, after consulting with Records and Admissions, I have found that if thou shouldst change thy major to PRE-HYGIENIC SOCIAL ECONOMIC BEHAVIOR, all thy problems wouldst be resolved

WAC Presents Proclamation

This Presidential Proclamation is presented by the Saint Leo College World Affairs Council.

We feel it is important for Americans to back THE HUMAN RIGHTS DAY on Dec. 10. The U.N. Universal Declaration is the first unified expression of the human rights goals of the countries which participated in its drafting. The first article for example, declares; "All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. They are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in a spirit of brotherhood."

Also this day is important:

-To reaffirm our faith in democratic processes and our American heritage.

-To join with other nations of the free world in commemorating the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

-To note the progress that has been made in the United States and throughout the world in guaranteeing the human rights expressed in the Declaration.

-To define the areas in which further steps need to be taken to make the Declaration a living document here and abroad.

Thad Biggs
President of the World Affairs Council SLC

THE WHITE HOUSE

HUMAN RIGHTS WEEK AND HUMAN RIGHTS YEAR

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

The year 1968 will mark the twentieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights by the United Nations—an historic document of freedom that expresses man's deepest beliefs about the rights that every human being is born with, and that no government is entitled to deny.

The United Nations has designated 1968 as International Human Rights Year. It has invited its members to intensify their domestic efforts to realize the aims of the Declaration.

Every American should remember, with pride and gratitude, that much of the leadership in the drafting and adoption of the Declaration came from a great American, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. She was our first representative on the UN Commission on Human Rights.

Today, October 11, would have been her 83rd birthday. With the inspiration of her humanitarian concern still before us, I call the attention of our people to the Declaration she helped to author.

To Americans, the rights embodied in the Declaration are familiar, but to many other people, in other lands, they are rights never enjoyed and only recently even aspired to.

The adoption of the Declaration by the United Nations established a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations. These principles were incorporated into Human Rights Conventions, to be ratified by the individual nations.

American ratification of these Conventions is long overdue. The principles they embody are part of our own national heritage. The rights and freedoms they proclaim are those which America has defended—and fights to defend—around the world.

It is my continuing hope that the United States Senate will ratify these conventions. This would present the world with another testament to our Nation's abiding belief in the inherent dignity and worth of the individual person. It would speak again of the highest ideals of America.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, in honor of the ratification of the American Bill of Rights, December 15, 1791, and in honor of the adoption by the General Assembly of the United Nations of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, December 10, 1948, do hereby proclaim the week of December 10 through 17, 1967, to be Human Rights Week and the year 1968 to be Human Rights Year. In so doing, I call upon all Americans and upon all Government agencies—federal, state and local—to use this occasion to deepen our commitment to the defense of human rights and to strengthen our efforts for their full and effective realization both among our own people and among all the peoples of the United Nations.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this eleventh day of October, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred sixty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-second.

$100 A DAY

Last Wednesday at 7 p.m. the Psychology Club had an alcoholic and drug addict as a guest speaker. Tony presently started blowing weed at the age of 12 between classes at school and has been "floating" up until 7 years ago when he kicked the "round scene". Tony has had experience with pot, heroin, demerol, morphine, cocaine, bennies dexedrine, etc., etc., and went from drugs to liquor as he puts it to "escape from reality". Due to his being on the "junk" his life has been spent in and out of hospitals and prisons. He has been a thief, a pusher, and a user because from his first pop of heroin at 16 years of age - he "had to have the stuff" - at times as much as $100 a day's worth!

Seven years ago Tony found a new way to live through Alcoholics Anonymous. This program showed him that through a power greater than himself, he need not be subjected to the miseries that the alcohol and drug scene gave him. He learned how to handle his habit one day at a time. Through AA Tony found out how to love others and how not to abuse himself. He found out how to kick a "hell" that he didn't need.

ANTHONY and THE IMPERIALS

A & I Hit Leo

For ballads, beat, rhythm and pop - to go along with their frenetic dancing ability and just the proper dash of light humor - there probably no other young adult cafe act around today, which grew out of the hot rock era of the hot rock era of the late 1950's, to match Anthony and The Imperials.

Successful since 1958 when as Little Anthony and The Imperials they rushed the record heights with their initial million-selling disc, "Tears on My Pillow," Anthony Gourdine, Ernest Wright, Clarence Collins and Samuel Strain, intelligently realizing the overall importance of presentation and performance, finally decided that they were in show business - for good.

• To that end, in 1966 they dropped the adjective "Little" from their billing to project to all their new image of an adult cafe act and continued the pursuit of right material and staging for their nightclub, college and one-nighter appearances.

All Brookly, New York-born, the quartet hasn't always been this strongly in accord. Following their initial disc smashes they parted for two years in order to find the proper grooves; Anthony doing a single and the others continuing as The Imperials. But it was only upon regrouping did they actually find that "proper groove." It is this groove which is propelling them to cafe stardom and achieving for them the accolades of adult audiences as well as satisfying their teenage fandom.

The group has made many outstanding TV and club appearances including spots on the Ed Sullivan Show, Shindig, Murray the K Special, Mike Douglas Show, "What's Happening, Baby?" and Hullaballoo and engagements at the Top Hat in Windsor, Canada, and the Hollywood Beach Hotel in Hollywood, Fla. February of 1967 finds them at the Holiday House in Pittsburgh followed by a March engagement at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas.. They have also been a smash hit at most of the major colleges and universities across the country.

Their recent outstanding record hits include the current "It's Not The Same," and such previous singles as "Better Use Your Head," "Hurt," "Going Out Of My Head," "I Miss You So," "Hurt So Bad," "I'm On The Outside Looking In" and "Take Me Back." They record for United Artists Records.

Anthony and The Imperials personnel is made up of Samuel Strain, the eldest, born Dec. 9 who sings tenor, Ernest Wright, born Aug. 24, second tenor, Clarence Collins, baritone, born March 17, and lead singer Anthony Gourdine, born Jan. 8.

"'Little' Anthony (Gourdine) & The Imperials have changed career direction and may find themselves so busy on the nitery circuit that they won't have time for their very lucrative concert and college engagements.

"Act starts off by giving a rock beat to such tunes as 'I Believe' and 'Get Me to The Church On Time' and then gives the young people in the audience some of their own nostalgia by reprising their big record hits like 'Shimmy Shummy' and 'Tears on My Pillow'. At this point the boys began entertaining with a rocking, driving turn that had the flavoring of both the Mills Brothers and The Treniers. They went off to a tremendous mitt. Anthony is the leader and the busiest of the group, but he gets fine support from The Imperials, especially a very funny fellow named Ernest Wright." Lit.

WHISKY A GO GO

The booking of Anthony and The Imperials, whose long string of hits-gone-standard have found their way into the repertoire of almost every big room headliner, constitutes a coup for the revamped Whisky A GoGo. They are virtually without peer in their field, young but given polish by years on the circuit, with an act whose staging, timing, harmony, audience identification and appeal, and inherent showmanship justly deserve presentation at the Cocoanut Grove. They are not just an act, but one of the country's best shows.

VARIETY

Whisky A Go Go, L.A.

Hollywood, March 14.

"Dropping the 'Little' from Anthony & The Imperials was a good idea because everything about the now-mansized, 24-year-old Anthony Gourdine and his Imperials (Ernest Wright, Clarence Collins, Samuel Strain) is strictly bigtime.

"Before a jammed opening night (Thurs.) house, the effulgent foursome flashed basically the same routine that won them notice during recent eastern swing and same act they'll carry into the Flamingo Hotel March 23, when they make their Las Vegas debut.

"So well staged is act, one often gets the feeling he's watching a single whose image is reflected thrice in mirrors; when one moves, they all ditto. Spot is in good hands with this something-for-all-ages act and biz will be brisk throughout fortnight's stay." Joex.

THE PITTSBURGH PRESS

February 14, 1967

by HENRY WARD

"Anthony and The Imperials at the Holiday House are a far cry from the outfit once known as 'Little Anthony and the Imperials'. The group is the same but my, oh my, have they grown up. Today they are a fascinating quartet, so smooth in delivery that they come nigh being sophisticated.

"Their harmonizing is flawless and they move around the stage with a sort of impish flair that makes their vocalizing all the more ingratiating.

"Their choice of material is excellent. Anthony and friends (or someone) has been smart enough to choose the 'standards', the well known tunes, for their repertoire with a sprinkling of some of the group's recording hits."

Students Polled on Accreditation

Well, poll-watchers, here we go again. This week was a rush job, so if the questions and answers aren't to your liking, please chalk it up to speed.

As you have probably surmised, we poll about two hundred people, mostly students, to find out their feelings on the current topics here at school. This week, we dealt with that all powerful subject of accreditation.

When asked this question, "With Saint Leo accredited now, do you think that more students will remain here or transfer to another college?" the majority, 73%, said that more students would remain here at Saint Leo. Of the 27% that said more would transfer, almost all felt that with the college accredited, it would be easier to transfer.

Another question asked was, "Do you feel that accreditation will make any difference in the way the college is run?" Of those polled, 86% felt that it would not because we have been rearranged to suit the Accreditation Board already. The 14% that said it would make a difference seemed to feel that the school could only do better.

The question of accreditation bringing more students to Saint Leo College met with general approval. 71% of the pollees felt that more students would be induced to come to Saint Leo. The other 29% either did not know or felt that the number of applications would not change.

Of personal interest to all students here at Saint Leo, is the next question. "If the number of student applications does increase, do you feel that we will get a higher caliber of student?" An overwhelming majority, 97%, felt that the standard of Saint Leo students would be on the upswing. The other 3% felt the standard was good and that it would stay the same.

Religion? How square!

Some people do make religion seem as if it ought to be put in mothballs.

Does that mean you have to?

Sure you're full of social protest. New ideas. Feelings about integrity and justice and today's values.

So is religion.

And your church or synagogue can become—if you help—the place where the action is—in solving the important problems in the world, in your community, in your life.

Don't knock it. Join it.

Freshmen Start In Tonight's Game

Four freshmen will start in Saint Leo's first basketball game of the season tonight against Florida Memorial in the Dade City Armory.

Rich Wallace, 5-9, 175 pounds, who averaged 17 points last year is the only vet in the lineup. Larry Moore, the 5-9, 175 pounds Al All-American from Chicago will play guard; Clyde Alexander, the 6-6, 222 pound two time All-Stater, will perform in the center slot; and the forward positions will be filled by Greg O'Connell, 6-7 at 215 pounds, and Pat Monogue, 6-2 at 185 pounds.

"The freshmen were chosen on the basis of their desire and ability," explained Coach Fagan. "We've got a lot of progress to make - we hope to be winning and learning at the same time.

Fagan pointed out that the all-Negro Florida Memorial boasts a pretty fair ball club with their ace, Sylvester Singleterry averaging 23 points last year. They also picked up two players from Saint Pete Junior College to strengthen the squad.

Dan Makosky, Jim Caboy, Mi Mike O'Brien, Dave Lewis and Bob Harty are back up men for the Monarchs who finished wit with a 16-9 won-lost record last year.

Soccer Season Ends

The Saint Leo Soccer squad closed their season November 14 as they bowed to defeat at the hands of Jacksonville University.

The Monarchs bowed at a score of 6-2. Saint Leo's goals came off the feet of John Hanely of Merrick, N.Y., and All-State Halfback Alvin Lacle of Aruba, Dutch West Indies.

The game against Jacksonville University marked the final games for graduating seniors Alvin Lacle, Al Hammer of Sarasota, Fla., and Adrian Theriault, of Lewiston. Lacle has been the Captain of the Monarch soccer team for the past four years and the past two years an All-State Halfback. Hammer has played for the Monarchs the past two years and has added punch to the Monarch's defense. Theriault has added "moxie" to the team as fullback, playing for the Monarchs the past two years.

The Monarchs closed the season with a 2-11 season. Their wins being over Stetson and Belmont Abbey of North Carolina, 3-2 and 1-0, respectively. The Monarchs also hold the dignity of scoring on South Florida, as they bowed to South Florida 7-2.

High scorer for the Monarchs this season was Jerry Boucher, of Darien, Conn., with a total of 18 goals. A tip of the hat must also be given to Larry Bowen, of Belle Glade, Fla., who tended nets throughout the season. The defensive player that deserves a tip of the hat also, is Tom Grabowski, of Jersey City, N.J N.J., who is feared by many of the teams the Monarchs played because of his talented head.

ON SPORTS

by Tom Truelson

The 1967-68 collegiate basketball season starts tonight, and this year, the battle will not be for No. 1 but for No. 2. Five teams, led by Houston and Louisville have a chance t to be the second best team in the country. Being second best is all any team can hope for, because No.1 belongs to UCLA.

With starters Lucius Allen, Mike Warren, Ken Heitz and Lew Alcindor, who soars 7 feet 1 into the stratosphere, returning from last years undefeated team, the Bruins will again be unbeatable and will easily win their second straight NCAA title

Between 1954 and 1956, Bill Russel led the Univ. of San Francisco to a record breaking 60 straight wins and two NCAA titles. Starting this season with 34 consecutive wins to th their credit, UCLA is expected to break this record before the season is over.

Everyone, except UCLA's coach Johnny Wooden, is predicting all sorts of feats for his great team. Recently, Wooden said that it is easier to win the national championship than to successfully defend it and it is too early to be talking about going undefeated and breaking records.

Johnny Wooden might be right in saying it is too early to make predictions, but by the time this season is over, UCLA very likely will have done it all.
